Luncheon with Keynote Presentation

You don't have to be racist to be biased. Unconscious bias can be at work without our realizing it, and even when we genuinely wish to treat all people equally, ingrained stereotypes can infect our visual perception, attention, memory, and behavior. This has an impact on education, employment, housing, and criminal justice.

Unblinking about the tragic consequences of prejudice, Dr. Eberhardt will address how racial bias is not the fault of nor restricted to a few “bad apples” but is present at all levels of society in media, education, and business. With a perspective that is at once scientific, investigative, and informed by personal experience, she will offer insights into the dilemma and a path forward – reminding us that racial bias is a human problem – one all people can play a role in solving.
